

Nicole Klassen

Community worker, Healer & Facilitator.

Dreamweaver of the Beauty School, McGregor

Born in Cape Town, South Africa, I represent a rich, cultural heritage referred to as Camissa Africans. We are genetically complex peoples collectively representing over 195 lineages including our indigenous Khoena lineages. Reconciling and giving a place to all my ancestors in my heart shapes my life's work. Rooted in this land, I am humbled to be called to the sacred vocation of healing belonging, identity and purpose.

I live with my beloved dog, Rosemary, and practice from the McGregor Wisdom School and Temenos Retreat in the rural village of McGregor in the Cape's Breede Valley. Where I offer pilgrimage, retreats and processes for individuals, groups and organisations through 1-on-1 consultation, family constellations, workshops and mentorship.

I have a background in Communications and executive management, am a graduate of African Constellations and the dreamweaver of the Beauty School in McGregor. I bridge years of communications industry experience with indigenous knowledge. Clients include non-profit organisations, sustainability projects and public health campaigns involving extensive community mobilisation, media and communications interventions to inspire change.

Contact me on nicole@naluthando.co.za to book a 1-on-1 or to create your group process. Visit my website www.naluthando.co.za to see my full list of offerings.

I work with nature, dreams, creative arts, family systems constellations and ancestral healing practices. I have a background in Communications and Executive management, am a graduate of African Constellations and the dreamweaver of the Beauty School in McGregor. I offer guided pilgrimage, retreats and processes for individuals, groups and organisations. Working with the land, I support people and projects to align to purpose, stay whole, connected and moving in the direction of love.
